Holiday Cottage

Airor, Knoydart, Nr Mallaig, Western Highlands of Scotland

Traditional House by the sea with incredible views on the wild and remote peninsular of Knoydart

Sleeps 6/8 (3 bedrooms)

Camusblathan (Bay of Small Flowers) is located in one of the most beautiful places in the world.

The house overlooks the sea (the Sound of Sleat) to the Garden of Skye, the haunting jagged peaks of the Cuillins and Isle Ornsay lighthouse. To the north towards the Kyles of Lochalsh you can see the lighthouse of Gavin Maxwell's Ring of Bright Water and to the south the mysterious silhouettes of the Islands of Eigg, Rhumm and Muck.

Accommodation

The house is not "done up" but has the charm of a family holiday cottage of yesteryear. It is warm and cosy with central heating, a Rayburn, a log fire and wood burning stove. The highland water is taken straight from the burn, so your bath will be peaty. There's no mains electricity; we rely on a generator, and the fridge runs on paraffin.

Modernised Kitchen with gas cooker and hob, fridge with small freezer space, washing machine, tumble dryer, washing up machine and water filter.

Dining room has large antique round table to seat 8, two easy chairs by log fire and Rayburn.

Sitting room has 3 sofas (where a couple of children could sleep) and a wood burning stove. We provide logs.

Bedroom 1 has a double bed, Bedroom 2 has a double bed and a pair of bunk beds.

Bedroom 3 (small) has a double bed.

Bathroom (needs decorating) has a bath, w.c. and washbasin.

There is a porch for wellies, buckets and spades, driftwood, garden chairs, life-jackets and fishing nets.

Towels and linen are provided.

Outside Space

Airor is a small hamlet with only about 4 permanent residents and seven cottages. There is a large grass area outside the house with a small table and chairs, a couple of sunloungers and a few directors chairs in the porch for outdoor use. Behind the house is a hill safe enough for children to enjoy scrambling up and close by there's a burn and stone ruins. Just across a damp peaty meadow are rocky coves, numerous rock pools and small islands. Around the bay is a sandy beach and a pier. There is plenty of room to pitch tents. Two canoes and the white rowing boat (above) can be borrowed.
